Weather, Rivers and Business. Yesterday was "biling" hot, and con-tinued so until a late hour at night. Everybody was under a high pressure sweat, and cussed the dull times from the word go. The river declined six ches, and now stands nine feet above extreme low-water mark. A rise of even inches at Louisville and two at it. Louis was reported, with a declining river at all other points. Eight feet at Pium Point is the latest intelligence from that quarter. Business continues at a summer standard.

Bates have ruled steady throughout at eight to ten per cent, really good paper being in demand at those rates. On the street the feeling has been dull; the only class of paper seeking negotiation is that which has been refused accommodation at the banks, and for this reason it meets with but little oncouragement in the open market.

little encouragement in the open market. Rates in this market were from eight to twelve per cent, ten to twelve per cent being the rule." Exchange was, as before, deficient, and money actively shipping east; merchants are beginning to buy goods there now, and beginning to buy goods there now, and the amount of cotton selling here has greatly decreased, all of which accounts for the condition of exchange. Rates, however, remain unaffected at par buying on New York and Boston, selling at i premium; buying at i discount on New Orleans.
